Special Session Of U.N. Begins

Bizerte Question Before Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly's special session on the French-Tunisian dispute over Bizerte, opening today, poses a new test of the Kennedy administration's professed anti-colonial policy.

Some 25 African and Asian countries planned to submit a resolution calling on France to withdraw troops occupying the city of Bizerte. The resolution also calls on France and Tunisia to open negotiations immediately on the withdrawal of all French forces from Tunisian territory.

Delegates from Asian, African or neutralist nations waited to see if the United States would vote for the resolution or if it would abstain as it did on similar proposals before the Security Council July 29.

Informed sources said there was a possibility the United States would vote for the resolution, but many diplomats believed it would abstain. One African delegate said unless the United States supported Tunisia, it could expect little support from the anti-colonialist countries if it should bring the Berlin crisis before the United Nations.

There was some belief the United States abstained on the Security Council vote because it thought then it could get the French to negotiate with the Tunisians. Chief U.S. delegate Adlai E. Stevenson now apparently has abandoned this hope, and Tunisia's backers feel that the United States — which Stevenson described as the "oldest anti-colonial power" — should join in the censure of France even though France is one of the United States' most important European allies.

The French government has refused to discuss a schedule of withdrawal from the big Bizerte naval and air base, claiming that Tunisia is trying to hold a gun to its head. The French indicated they would boycott the General Assembly session.

The resolution prepared for introduction in the General Assembly.

Junior Baseball Drive Nets $473

A total of $473.25 was collected when the Salem Junior Baseball League held a house-to-house canvass here Friday. Robert W. Whitehill, league treasurer, reported.

The total was considerably under the amount collected last year, Whitehill said.

The money will be used to meet current expenses and costs incurred in the construction of the new baseball diamond at Copacia Field on the Depot Road.

This year's junior baseball program will cost approximately $6,700, John Herman Jr., league president, announced earlier.

A total of 43 teams, composed of boys ranging in age from six to 19, are taking part in the program.

The players, their managers and other league officials and drivers Saturday attended the Cleveland Indian - New York Yankee baseball game at Cleveland.

Freight Blocks Main Crossing

19 Cars Derailed At East Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Derailment of 19 cars of an eastbound Pennsylvania Railroad freight train left the main Market St. crossing blocked here today.

Railroad officials termed the accident "a major tie-up" although no one was injured.

The derailment, which occurred at 11:15 p.m. Sunday, was caused by an overheated journal box on one of the cars which jumped the tracks and then slid sideways, causing other cars to follow in a similar pattern.

Seventeen of the cars were loaded with limestone which was destined for steel mills at Wheeling and Weirton, W. Va.

About an eighth of a mile of track was torn up and both east and west tracks of the main Pittsburgh to Fort Wayne line were blocked. Traffic was being rerouted through Youngstown.

Emergency train crews from the Canton yards arrived at 1:30 a.m. and were at work with a derrick for clean-up operations.

Service is expected to be restored to normal by 11 tonight.

There was no damage to railroad installations, although the passenger and freight offices were nearby. One car on a siding where the Murray feed mill was to load grain and the ramp at the freight office were damaged slightly.

Railroad officials estimated that the "hot box" developed on one of the cars after it passed through Columbiana because the watchman there reported no trouble.

At the time the one car left the tracks 50 yards west of the Market St. crossing the train was reported traveling at about 45 miles an hour.

Hively of Union St. Ext. will fill the vacancy created by the withdrawal of James Bender, who was nominated as the Democratic candidate in the May primary, the board said.

"Audience accommodations will be available to all Cincinnati Teamsters, including the four locals seeking disaffiliation, and the public at large," the officials said.

Luken protested the choice of locale for the debate, while Kirchner urged the debate be held in a television studio before an "unrigged" audience. Several Cincinnati television stations have offered their services.

"Hoffa will have that place (Music Hall) rigged," Luken charged.

A West German government press officer in Bonn Sunday circulated a report that the East German Communists may close the Helmstedt-Berlin highway, the sole route for allied military road traffic. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's chief spokesman in Berlin quickly toned down the report.

Hoffa Wants Union Debate

Rebel Official Sees No Value In Talks

CINCINNATI (AP)—James R. Hoffa, president of the International Union, has agreed to come to Cincinnati for a debate with James Luken, former Teamsters official who last week led 4,000 union members to break away from the International.

But Luken sees little point in a debate or discussion.

Asked how he felt about the proposed talks Sunday, he said: "They wouldn't settle a damn thing. What's there to debate? The unions have left the Teamsters. They're gone and talk sure won't bring them back. But if he wants to do it, I'll be glad to please Mr. Hoffa."

Four locals here voted last week by overwhelming margins to leave the Teamsters and seek affiliation with AFL-CIO. This action has not been recognized by the Teamsters high command, and Hoffa Thursday appointed Vice President Harold Gibbons trustee over the rebel locals.

Gibbons has so far failed to make any headway against the rebels. The challenge for a debate was originally issued by him.

Luken said he was not a very competent debater, but that he would "discuss the issues with William Presser, Ohio Teamsters president. If he wants to have Mr. Hoffa by his side, that's all right, too."

He added that William Kirchner, the local AFL-CIO director, should also be invited to the debate.

Teamster officials announced Sunday Hoffa had agreed to come to Cincinnati next Sunday to debate the rebels. The Teamsters engaged the downtown Music Hall for the purpose.

"Audience accommodations will be available to all Cincinnati Teamsters, including the four locals seeking disaffiliation, and the public at large," the officials said.

Luken protested the choice of locale for the debate, while Kirchner urged the debate be held in a television studio before an "unrigged" audience. Several Cincinnati television stations have offered their services.

"Hoffa will have that place (Music Hall) rigged," Luken charged.

Cuban Captain Urges U.S. Hold Freighters

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The captain of the Cuban freighter Bahia de Nipe has appealed to President Kennedy to hold the vessel here until the families of defecting crewmen get out of Cuba.

The 3,800-ton, sugar-laden ship lay at anchor today in nearby Lynnhaven Roads under watch by the Coast Guard.

A hearing resumes before U.S. Dist. Judge Walter E. Hoffman will determine whether the ship can be seized by U.S. marshals for settlement of debts claimed by several persons.

Jorge Gustin Navarro, the ship's captain, said Sunday night that he had sent a letter to the President asking him to hold the ship here until the families of the crewmen seeking sanctuary in this country are out of Cuba.

The State Department in Washington said it has received a formal request from Prime Minister Fidel Castro for return of the freighter.

Johnson Terms Berlin Mission Successful

Veep Heading Home After Setting U.S. Stand In Crisis

BERLIN (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson flew home from West Berlin today to tell President Kennedy his mission had been successful and to warn him that new Soviet challenges may be in the making.

The vice president's 6-hour visit lifted the will of the 2.5 million West Berliners to resist Communist pressures and quieted fears they might be forsaken with the Red closing of the city's East-West border.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt who had demanded "political action" by the allies rather than paper protests, said Johnson's visit was "the greatest help we could get at this moment."

Before the vice president left, a fresh battle group of 1,500 American troops rolled in to strengthen his repeated pledge that the United States will stand firm with West Berlin and the Communist-encircled city "can never be bullied into the surrender of its freedom."

The new arrivals brought the U.S., British and French garrisons in West Berlin to a total of 12,000 troops.

The Moscow press called Johnson's visit "provocative" and decried the dispatch of the American troops reinforcements as "military hysteria." But the Soviets gave polite clearance to the U.S. Army convoy that crossed 110 miles of Communist territory to get here from West Germany.

Over the weekend in what Johnson called "one of America's finest hours," the fears of war subsided noticeably and the prospects of negotiations with the Soviets grew both in Berlin and Washington.

Mayor Brandt, who said his discussions with Johnson went "far beyond the Berlin issue," said there will be no war and predicted East-West talks late in the fall.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a U.S. television audience he did not expect the Soviet threats to West Berlin to lead to war.

"We do expect negotiations to take place—negotiations will occur," Rusk said. He said he did not yet know how, when or where—but he did not rule out the prospect of a summit meeting after "full preparation."

A West German government press officer in Bonn Sunday circulated a report that the East German Communists may close the Helmstedt-Berlin highway, the sole route for allied military road traffic. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's chief spokesman in Berlin quickly toned down the report.

Three-Vehicle Crash Here Injures Three

Three persons were injured, none seriously, in a mishap involving two cars and a truck at the intersection of W. State St. and Sharp Ave., at 3:01 p.m. Saturday.

Injured were: Donald Anderson, 34, of 292 W. 5th St., whiplash injury to the neck.

Ray Carnes, 26, of 128 W. 3rd St., pulled hip muscles.

Joyce Hoy, 19, of Crownsville, Md., shock.

All three were treated at the Central Clinic.

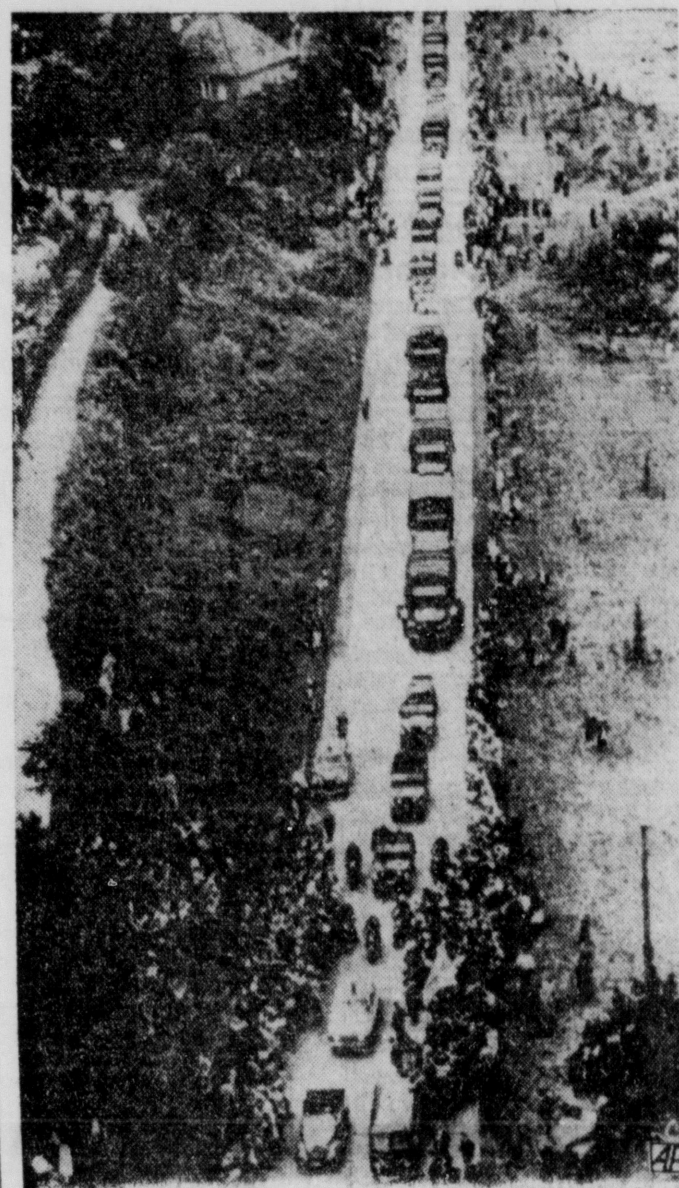

According to police, a truck driven by Anderson and a car operated by Thomas N. Hoy, 26, of Crownsville, Md., were stopped in a line of traffic when Frank Kamper, 65, of RD 2, Beloit, crashed into the rear of the truck, forcing it into the car occupied by the Hoyes.

Carnes was a passenger in the truck.

Kamper was cited for failure to stop in an assured clear distance.

Kelley Howard, 18, of RD 1, Saineville, was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer for reckless operation after he was involved in a two-car collision at 11:11 p.m. Sunday on S. Lincoln Ave., just north of Olive St.

Police said Howard attempted to pass a car driven by Allen LeRoy Rogers, 32, of RD 2, Salem, but lost control and slid into the left side of Rogers' vehicle.

Senate Works On Civil Rights

House Begins Tackling Aircraft Hijacking Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate plows into a scrap over smoldering civil rights legislation today, while the House takes up a bill providing a death penalty for airplane hijackers.

Promising sparks in the Senate was a leadership-sponsored move to suspend the rules and hook onto an appropriation bill a two-year extension of the Civil Rights Commission, now due to expire Nov. 9.

Advocates of other civil rights measures planned to try to get in some licks of their own despite the damper the Kennedy administration has put on legislation in this field this year.

The hijacking bill up for action in the House, along with a string of routine measures, is similar to legislation recently passed by the Senate in an effort to halt an outbreak of piracy in the skies.

It provides for a maximum penalty of death, and not less than 20 years' imprisonment, for hijacking airliners. In addition, it makes federal offenses of assaults, murder, robbery and other crimes committed aboard planes.

In the Senate, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois will try to attach a bill extending the Civil Rights Commission to a $761-million appropriation measure for the State and Justice Departments and the federal courts.

To carry out this maneuver, it will be necessary to obtain a two-thirds majority to suspend a Senate rule banning extraneous legislation in an appropriation bill.

In 1959, when the commission first was due to expire, Congress voted to continue it for two more years. This was accomplished by hooking an extension bill onto an appropriation measure in a procedure identical to that now proposed.

Aged Canfield Woman Dies In Rt. 224 Crash

Mrs. Laura Fries Victim; Husband, Other Driver Hurt

A 72-year-old Canfield woman was killed and six other persons injured in two of seven traffic accidents that occurred on area highways Sunday.

Dead is Mrs. Laura Fries, 72, of 68 Boardman St., Canfield. Her husband, John G. Fries, 84, and Kenneth H. Ness, 53, of Canton, are in fair condition at Youngstown South Side Hospital with injuries received in the same accident which happened on Rt. 224, about three miles east of Canfield, at 9:15 p.m.

Three cars were involved in the fatal crash, including one driven by a Salem man, Stanley Summerson, 20, of 228 W. 16th St.

According to the state highway patrol, Summerson was following a truck that was moving slowly up a hill when his car was rammed from behind by the car operated by Ness which had approached rapidly from the rear.

Cars Collided Head-on

After striking Summerson's vehicle, Ness' car bounced into the lane of oncoming traffic where it crashed head-on with tremendous impact into the auto driven by Mr. Fries.

Mrs. Fries apparently was thrown through the windshield. She was dead on arrival at South Side Hospital. Her injuries included a fractured skull, fractured leg and fractures of the face.

Mr. Fries suffered lacerations of the forehead, upper lip and both hands, and possible fractures of the right wrist and ribs. Ness received fractured ribs and possible internal injuries.

Summerson escaped unhurt.

Firemen were called to hose down gasoline which spilled on the road. Traffic was backed up for more than a mile in both directions on Rt. 224 for a short while following the crash.

Still Under Investigation

The accident is still under investigation by the patrol.

Four persons from western Pennsylvania, including two children, were hurt in a two-car collision.

Columbiana Legion Cited By National

COLUMBIANA — An award for outstanding service to youth has come to Benjamin Firestone Post 290, American Legion of Columbiana.

The citation was sent from national headquarters of the Legion in Indianapolis, over the personal signature of the national commander, William R. Burke, complimenting the local post on a wide assortment of youth projects.

The post's "Honor Night" was given particular attention. "Honor Night" was a dinner for the high school students with high scholastic achievement. The Legion sponsored Boy Scout Troop 18, an essay contest for high school students on a patriotic project, the Legion baseball team which finished third in the district this year, promotion of a junior rifle team, and promotion of a hunter's safety course.

"Child welfare is one of the Legion's major programs, and we are proud that our efforts have been honored in this way," said Richard Winegard, local post commander.

The citation was presented to the post by Robert Patchen, child welfare officer.

THE MONTHLY MEETING of the Columbiana Area Republican Men's Club is scheduled for Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Republic Headquarters at the Fair Grounds at Lisbon. The meeting will be held in conjunction with Columbiana Day at the Fair. Local candidates for village offices will be present.

Two big merchants' tents, instead of the customary one, are scheduled for the Columbiana Street Fair, coming up Sept. 6, 7, 8, and 9.

Harry Lundgren, secretary, said negotiations are underway for the second tent.

A baton-twirling program and contest under the sponsorship of Holloway's will be another feature of the Diamond Jubilee.

THIRTY MEMBERS of the graduating class of 1959 of Columbiana High School with their wives, husbands or friends, held a coverdish dinner reunion at Lake Copeland.

The following committee was selected to arrange the 1963 reunion to be held at the home of Miss Roberta Garver on Eureka Road: Mrs. Charles Miner, chairman, Miss Garver and Miss Sher-yl Flynn will assist.

Mrs. Neal Drame (Noma Antram) traveled the longest distance, Quincy, Mass., to attend the reunion.

A BABY SHOWER was held recently in honor of Mrs. Charles Parkinson and her infant daughter Kimberly Kay. Mrs. Larry Zimmerman and Mrs. Gary Wilms entertained at the home of Mrs. Zimmerman on Bittersweet Drive.

Mrs. Parkinson is residing with her father, Walter Messersmith, until her husband completes his service with the Army in Germany.

Games were played by guests and refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Deborah Circle members will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday to leave for a tour of the Firestone Home- stead. The group will go to the home of Mrs. Ike Webber following the tour for a meeting and refreshments.

Applicants Sought For Treasury Agents

The United States Civil Service Commission today announced an examination for the position of treasury enforcement agent (criminal investigator) at $5355 a year.

The positions are with the Treasury Department Agencies of Alcohol & Tobacco Tax Division, Internal Revenue Service; Bureau of Narcotics; U. S. Secret Service and Bureau of Customs in the States of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia.

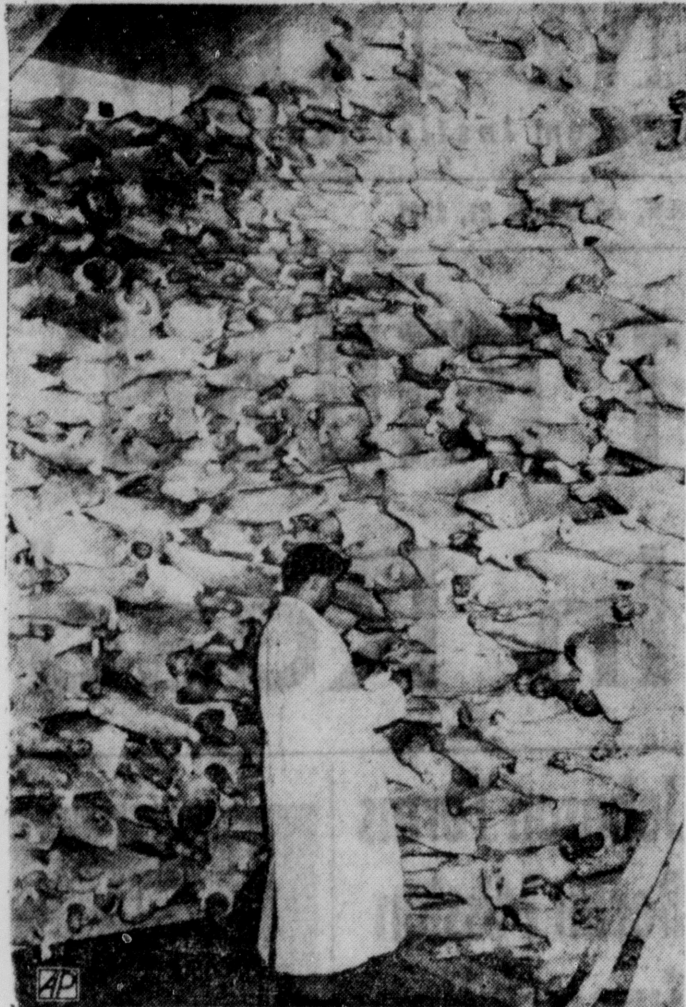

A written test will be required, and applicants will also be rated on the basis of their experience and/or education.

Particulars regarding the examination or instructions on where such information may be obtained can be secured at any post office, or from the executive secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Internal Revenue Service, Room 944, Swift Building, 230 E. 9th St., Cincinnati 2, or the 6th U. S. Civil Service Region, Post Office & Courthouse Building, Cincinnati 2.

Applications will be accepted until the needs of the service have been met.

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN Unsuspected Dangers Menace Our Children

From a number of scattered sources we have been informed of dangers to the well child that may surprise you as much as they surprised me.

The X-ray department of the Children's Hospital in Southern California reports the finding of serious bone damage in films taken of the extremities of youngsters who were not known to have been exposed to any injury.

In some of these instances, later investigation led to the suspicion that the injury had been inflicted by cruel or ignorant parents.

But, in some, it may have been that the damage was caused by playfully tossing the child in the air and catching it as it descended. Or by lifting the child by the arms. Or dragging the youngster along while hurrying to cross the street against traffic, for instance.

Since the child could give no account of these incidents and might only react by crying or restlessness, the site and extent of the injury may not be detected. And, since injury to growing bone may lead to later shortening and deformity, unless corrected immediately, these seemingly trivial incidents may have far-reaching results later in life.

From the New York Upstate

Medical Center we learn that there is more to the problem of poisoning in children than the mere factor of accident.

The child who suffers a poisoning is apt to suffer a repetition of the experience. And the "poison prone" child is apt to be the particularly active and mischievous youngster of working parents. The boy is apt to be a dare-devil, high strung and impulsive. The girl, a "tomboy." And, in either stance, the "poison-prone" youngster appears to be difficult to control and likely to strike back when disciplined.

Even more surprising to me is a study from Boston indicating that the child who suffers a burn is one who may likely have had an emotional problem before the accident took place.

Since burns are now the second most frequent cause for accidental death in children, exceeding all the contagious diseases put together, this observation commands the attention of conscientious parents.

To illustrate their point, the Boston observers report that eight of the 19 burned children whom they studied came from family backgrounds that were "grossly disturbed." This observation is of vast importance, not only in providing a clue to accident prevention, but also in caring for the burned child.

For, unless the emotional problem is attacked at its roots, it may be impossible to get the child to co-operate in the long drawn-out and often painful program that is essential to recovery.

B. Guiana Voting On New Government

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—Voters in this tiny British colony of East Indians and Negroes on South America's north coast chose a new government today in an election that political experts believe may decide whether British Guiana moves on to democratic independence or Soviet-style socialism.

Cheddi Jagan, Socialist with Communist leanings who has dominated the colony's politics for eight years, seeks to become its first premier. Opposing the East Indian dentist for power over the 8,000 square miles of tropical territory are Forbes Burnham, Socialist lawyer leader of the Negro-dominated People's National Congress (PNC), and Peter Daguair, an anti-Communist beer baron of Portuguese origin.

Jagan attacked the United States in an election eve statement and said he did not "propose to establish any form of dictatorial regime."

Without denying his enemies' claim that his People's Progresssive Party (PPP) is Communist, he said: "Events in Russia and Cuba have deeply wounded (North Americans') national pride and made their fear of communism psychopathic."

His opponents predicted that Jagan would lean to the Soviet side in the cold war if the PPP took enough seats in the legislature to form a new government.

Political experts forecast a close election, with Jagan's party winning 18 seats, Burnham's 16 and Daguair's United Force only one. If neither Jagan or Burnham can form a government, a new election may be necessary.

Wife Usually Makes Final Decision on House Purchase

When a husband and a wife shop around for a new home, who makes the final decision on the house to be bought?

Our guess would be that the wife's opinion is the deciding factor in the selection. We might even concede that, in many cases, it's a joint decision. But we can't go for the belief that "it is usually the husband who decides which house is to be bought."

Yet that statement, quoted above, is incorporated in a research report based on a national survey of the residential market. It was prepared for the National Association of Home Builders and leading manufacturers as the basis for a drive to expand the market for new homes.

Men and women look for different things when walking through a new house. The man is especially interested in construction features, even if his knowledge of the subject isn't very precise. The woman is interested in the things with which she will have to deal directly. The kitchen, for instance,

Is it the kind of kitchen she wants, both in the matter of size and convenience? When she looks at the living room, she visualizes it in relation to the furniture she has or intends to purchase. And more and more, the woman of today critically examines the amount of closet space available. She knows that her housekeeping chores will be all the more difficult when there isn't enough closet room.

A woman is also very much aware of the availability of neighborhood facilities. Is the shopping area convenient? What about the location and kind of schools? Where is the nearest place of worship of the family's religion? And even though it's the husband who has to do the commuting, it's usually the wife who asks the questions about transportation. Above all, the woman is vitally concerned with the kind of neighborhood the house is in, taking particular note of whether it has a general appearance of cleanliness and orderliness.

The husband, in addition to his over-all judgment of construction details, prides himself on being able to decide whether the house is priced right. He may not give an on-the-spot opinion, but you can be sure he'll volunteer his appraisal when he and his wife are talking things over later.

Survey or no survey, show us a husband who will insist on buying a house his wife doesn't like — and we'll show you a husband who is going to regret his decision.

TOWER SAVES ORPHANS IN TYPHOON DISASTER!

True Friend Island, a mission home for homeless South Korean boys, was directly in the path of Typhoon Sarah. To escape it, 200 children and many workers huddled for hours in a recently erected escape tower — and lived. The livestock and every other building in the area were completely washed away.

This life-saving tower, part of a settlement built expressly for the care of homeless youngsters, is the direct result of Americans supporting the Overseas Aid Program of their faith. While this particular endeavor is Protestant, all three great faiths—Protestant, Catholic, Jewish—maintain far-reaching programs. They provide clothing, food, medicine, jobs, education, tools and equipment to the millions in need.

These overseas programs must continue. They often provide the only hope to indigent millions. And they need your support.

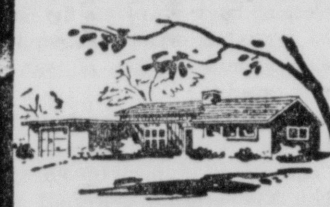

Remember, it is the generosity of those like yourself that offers new hope where none now exists.

Fiber Glass Roofs Popular Among Do-It-Yourselfers

Fiber glass roofs for patios, carports and breezeways have attained considerable popularity because they allow the passage of a large amount of light yet block the transmission of much of the sun's heat.

Since the fiber glass is light in weight and can be worked with ordinary tools, this material has gained wide acceptance among do-it-yourselfers. The panels can be bought with regular flat surfaces or in a number of flat-surface variations, but it is the corrugated panels which are the biggest sellers. The corrugations not only have a certain attractiveness, but help to shed rain-water. They come in various colors, with green the most popular.

If you are planning on putting up a fiber glass roof, it is well to know what size panels you will use before the framework is installed. That's because the size of the panels will influence the spacing of the rafters. If the joints fall on the rafters, they will be stronger and will not require as much mastic to be sure they are leakproof. The joints are made by overlapping the panels at least one corrugation.

The panels are nailed to the wooden framing with special aluminum nails with washers that insure watertight seals. Although it is possible to hammer the nails through the paneling without marring the fiber glass, this must be done so carefully that it is better to drill holes through the roofing material to receive the nails. These holes should be slightly smaller than the size of the nails.

For proper drainage, the framework should have a pitch of at least one inch to every foot. Special metal flashings are available to be used at the point where the roof meets the house. These flashings have corrugations in them to match the corrugations in the panels, insuring tight fits and preventing the passage of water under the seams.

The 4 by 4 posts used for the uprights can be set into dirt at least two feet — or set in concrete — or attached with steel dowels or headless bolts if the patio floor already is stone or concrete. The dealer from whom you purchase the posts can give you more detailed advice on that subject to fit your particular need.

One more important point. Before you begin work, find out what building code requirements are in your neighborhood.

Here's The Answer

QUESTION: I am planning on covering a closet wall with the perforated boards I have seen in lumber yards. Can you tell me how to attach them so that I get maximum use of the perforations, which will be used for hanging clothes on metal hooks?

ANSWER: You will have to nail furring strips to the existing wall,

Use strips three-quarters of an inch by three-quarters and place them at 16-inch intervals, nailing them through the wall and into the studding. When the strips are in place, spread glue on them and position the panel so that the strips fall between the rows of perforations. Fasten the panel with brads or roundhead wood screws applied through drilled holes or the perforations themselves. Use a fastener every four inches around the edges and every six inches on intermediate supports. Panels one-eighth of an inch in thickness usually are amply strong, but if it is expected that the hanger loads will be extremely heavy, use the quarter-inch size. You can get the perforated panels with a factory primed coat which is slightly textured and ready for finishing or you can apply a primed coat to ordinary panels and then add the finishing coats. Incidentally, if you are using more than one panel, avoid butting them tightly.

Permanent Correction Is Needed

The Appeals Court ruling that a law giving the state board of education the power to prevent school district annexations is unconstitutional can be expected to cause consternation among suburban school officials and residents throughout Ohio.

The ruling is not final as far as general application is concerned, and therefore the law is valid unless and until the Ohio Supreme Court agrees with the appellate court at Columbus.

But the fact that the statute now stands in legal jeopardy may give rise to pressures on the General Assembly to write specific standards into the law to guide the state board in its decisions. This, the court ruling said, would overcome its objections to the law in its present form.

IN FAIRNESS to the state board, it should be stated that it has used its broad power under the questioned law with wisdom and genuine concern for the communities and school districts involved. In the absence of specific legislative guidance, it has drawn its own standards for the law's application and these might be incorporated into the statute books by the Assembly.

But there is serious question whether that would accomplish anything, because there is serious question whether the law in its present form represents a benefit for the urbanized state of Ohio.

The original idea of the law was to protect suburban school districts against "tax grabs" and still permit municipalities to reflect their natural growth through boundary changes. This has not been accomplished, because experience has shown that annexations for municipal purposes only—leaving existing school districts intact—are virtually impossible under the constitutional 10-mill limit on non-voted tax levies.

The effect of the law, therefore, has been to put another blockade in the way of annexation in Ohio, tightening the stranglehold on cities gasping for the chance to bring their legal boundary lines into conformance with their actual urban development.

There can be no doubt that simultaneously the law has prevented some "tax grab" annexations that would have been damaging to some school districts. This is why suburbanites are so fond of the present law.

BUT THE TROUBLE with that concept of the approach to annexation is that it pits competing groups against each other, instead of finding a way for them to work together to serve their mutual interests.

This is the realm where real guidance is needed, and the General Assembly is the only logical place for that guidance to be supplied. Experts on the subject are generally agreed that the absence of a fair way to meet the school problem in annexation is the overriding stumbling block that prevents many needed city expansions under the present law and hampers Assembly efforts to bring the present law into step with modern urban facts of life.

The Appeals Court's ruling, therefore, should serve the purpose of spurring General Assembly efforts to take a new look at the entire annexation situation. That would be far superior to trying to doctor up a law that never was intended to be more than a stopgap measure, and has not succeeded very well as that.

Campaign Issue In West Germany

Threats by Willy Brandt and Konrad Adenauer to take unilateral reprisal action against the East German regime for closing up loopholes in the Iron Curtain across German seem to fly in the face of earlier pledges of unified Allied reaction.

Since other Western governments appear at the moment to be opposed to reprisals, the German leaders' statements could cause some nail-biting among those who fear the spark that will set the missiles a-zooming.

But before the panic button is pushed, it should be remembered that West Germany is in the middle of an election campaign, and the opponents are Willy Brandt and Konrad Adenauer.

Nobody expected the West German people to take the border closing calmly. National and family ties are too emotional to permit that.

And since a political leader must be responsive to the thoughts of his constituents, it just does not make sense that West Germany's political leaders should be unresponsive—in the midst of a political campaign, yet—to the thoughts of West German voters on the subject of border closing.

That the thoughts of the West Germans and the responses of their political contenders might have international implications involving Western allies is one of the things that makes the Berlin crisis so complex.

Adding to the complexity is the fact that Nikita Khrushchev's decisions on Berlin have been dictated by political considerations, too. The tenuous solidarity of his "international alliances" have had a bearing on his desperation and frustration over conditions in and around East Germany.

Just as it is a good idea to wait and see how far Khrushchev actually goes in provoking precipitate action over Berlin, it is a good idea to wait and see how far Brandt and Adenauer go in provoking precipitate reprisals against the Red regime.

The West German leaders are not prepared to supply a blockaded West Berlin without the help of their allies. But they may well be prepared—as all practiced politicians learn to be—to sidestep the demand from the voters for something more than words.

How each plans to do it is probably part of his strategy to defeat his political opponent. After all, Berlin is the big issue in the West German political campaign.

County Fair Time

Columbiana county fair board officers and agricultural leaders have completed preparatory work and all is in readiness for the opening of the county's 116th annual exposition Tuesday.

The next five days will bring an array of farm talent and exhibits, professional entertainment and, best of all, the good old-fashioned but ever popular displays of culinary art and handicraft by the grange folks, not to mention the entries of prized animals from the farm.

County Fair time is traditional and highly recommended as an end-of-the-summer tonic.

Once Over

Scientific tests have been made to see if baseballs in Babe Ruth's time were as lively as today's. Little if any difference was shown by research and a consultant corporation, which dissected baseballs of 1927 and the current supply, except that stitches by women workers were flatter, making it harder for pitchers to grip ball.

This column's firm of Steukel, Powley and Flegerman was retained to make scientific tests of pitchers, testing them for rotational stability, bounce, weight and durability. Verdict was that, while the baseball hadn't changed, the pitchers today are very different.

Tests indicated that today, hurlers are lighter, due to the fact they concentrated too much on income from TV commercials for various products, and lacked bounce because they worried too much over what inning they would be taken out and whether they would be released during the game or after.

Tests were made by stop watch of pitchers coming to the mound on foot and by auto or cart. It showed those who came by auto or cart went farther and lasted longer because they had less time to worry before pitching the first ball.

Old-time pitchers were put through revolving doors against modern twirlers and did much better because they pitched in an age before a pitcher was in a revolving door from inning to inning due to nervous managers.

Structure of pitchers was examined under X-ray and showed iron and rock content in old days was greater, while many 1961 hurlers seem to have less iron and more foam rubber, gelatin and wax in physical make-up.

Scientists agreed that Babe Ruth had more swagger, dynamism and hell-for-leather in personality than Mantle and Maris, both of whom take it philosophically and without emotion or defiance.

They were not scientific tests pay well and are always inconclusive.

Yuri Gagarin, Soviet air hero, listened to four-hour speech by Castro and begged off from next day's festivities. There's a limit to man's endurance in outer space and inner boredom.

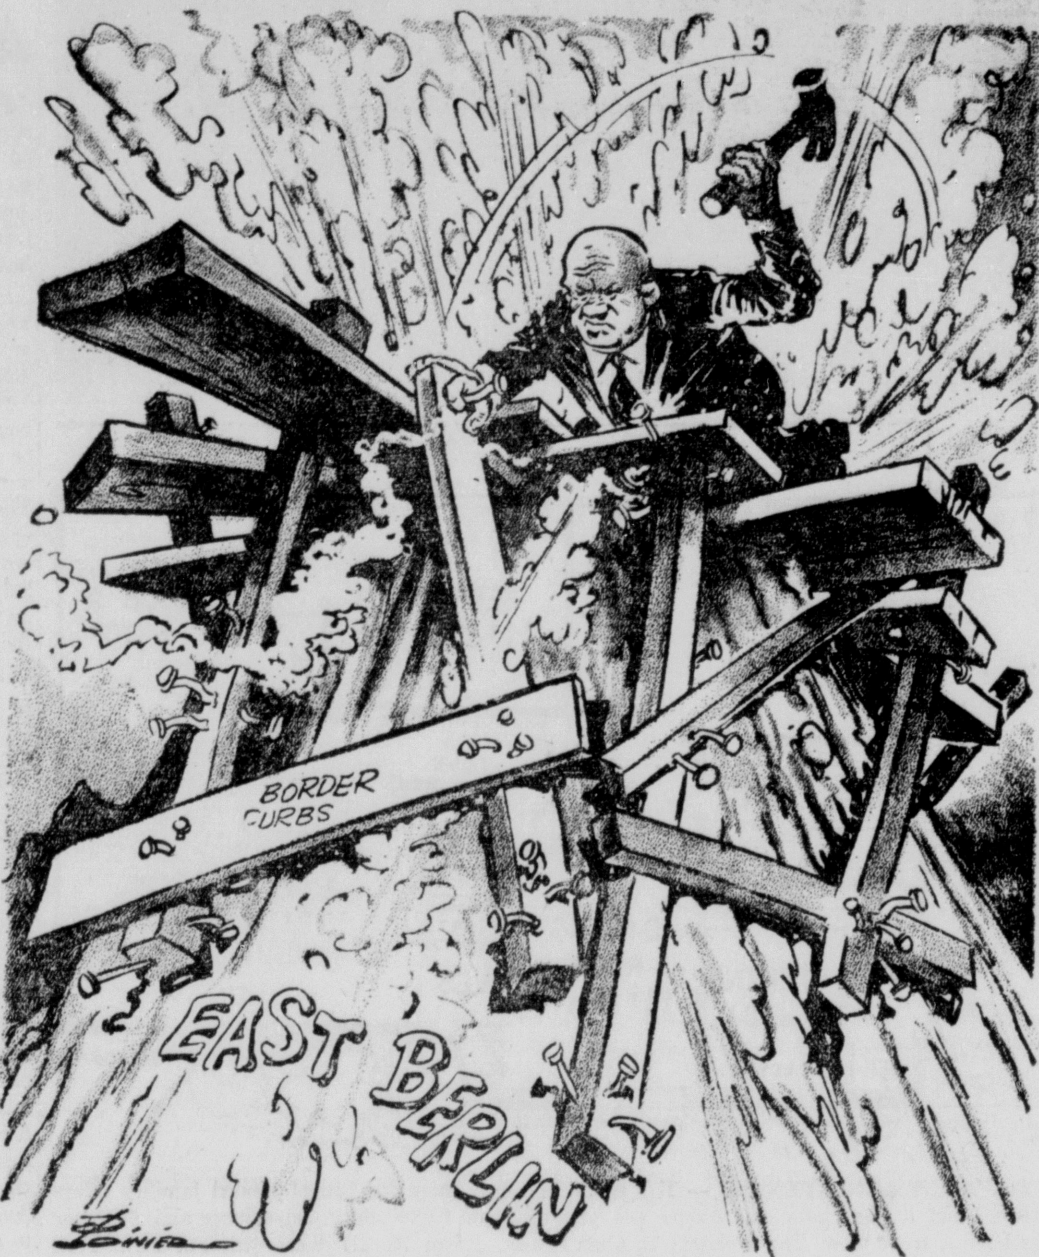

James Thurber in a swell Esquire satire on a modern dramatist's search for horror plays has a producer describing his characters as devils and demons under evil influence of human beings.

U.N. Security Council took half hour to debate matter of a 15-minute recess. That just gives you an idea.

Shakespeare's "Troilus and Cressida" was performed at Stratford, Conn., with Civil War background. This gives you an idea how complete is trend toward playing up that historic struggle. Don't tell us we will get "Hamlet" on Little Round Top, Romeo and Juliet cheering Phil Sheridan or a "Lend me your ears" speech against a back drop of Gettysburg.

Birthday of Emma Lazarus, poetess, was just celebrated with ceremonies below Statue of Liberty. She wrote enduring verses with lines "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free," so truly presenting a picture of America which needs new emphasis today

"Fools Rush In . . ."

Relentless Reds

By VICTOR RIESEL

(Second of Two Articles)

BONN Special agents of the West German FBI—the Office for the Protection of the Constitution—staked themselves out quietly not too long ago at the Bavarian station of Hof.

They awaited the arrival of an interzonal Train D-16. It was about to cross the border from the obozone. As soon as it did the special agents jumped aboard, ran for the toilets and certain corridors. They found what they sought.

Hidden behind installations in the washrooms and inside the intricate lighting fixtures of the train corridors were 615 letters, all specially addressed, all ready for mailing from inside the German Federal Republic, led by Chancellor Adenauer.

Soviet operatives never got those letters for mailing. Neither, therefore, did the 615 contacts whom the Sovzone authorities were attempting to subvert. The letters had copies of Edition No. 12 of the East Zone document called "Wehrpolitik" which is brutally anti-West, especially against the United States.

THIS RAID on the interzonal train is one of hundreds of such operations against the intricate and massive Soviet operation inside the German Republic—aimed at toppling it by subverting thousands of secondary and lower echelon officials.

These swift raids are not as melodramatic as the counter-offensive over in Berlin. There the Soviets draw the world spotlight not only because of N. S. Khrushchev's great squeeze but because the Communist techniques are as subtle as a brass band's bass drum.

In Berlin, the Russians have, for example, snatched some 202 anti-Communists from the West sector—some simply by hitting them on the head and dragging them off.

We have records of at least 81 of the 202 men being enticed across by women who cultivated them and cried for help, or Soviet double agents who promised vital information if only the men would meet them on the other side of the sector border.

One of the men recently picked up by Soviet secret police is a friend of mine, a German labor man. He is Heinz Brandt, a West German trade unionist who edited the German Metal Workers' newspaper.

HE DISAPPEARED on June 17 in East Berlin, to which he had gone from our zone on routine business.

Brandt, who was a victim of the Nazis but survived, lived in the West Zone after he escaped from the Sovzone back in 1958. We know that the Communist secret police have him.

Of course, the Heinz Brandt incident excites the melodramatic instincts of us newsmen more than the more subtle Soviet attacks. But tragic though it is, it does not have the impact of the internal propaganda and subversion attack which has been overlooked by the world.

The Soviets have set up at least 60 "innocent" front organizations inside West Germany. As soon as one unit is exposed—after considerable expenditure of time and money—another is set up.

There is, for example, within West Germany something called "Komitee fuer Verständigung und Zusammenarbeit der Deutschen Staedte und Gemeinden"—the Committee for Understanding Between and Cooperation of the German Towns and Communities.

Its purpose is to arrange communal exchange trips between West and East German groups. Once inside the Sovzone, the West Germans are pressured, wooed and are quietly told that they have such and such relatives behind the iron line and it would be nice for all concerned if the Westerners cooperated with the Soviet secret police.

BEHIND EACH of these units is the secret and outlawed KPD, the underground Communist party of West Germany. It is in effect a massive distribution and infiltration network.

It has handled the distribution of 120 million pieces of special Communist literature—some three million of this total being delivered by its own underground truck fleet.

To feel the full force of this, you should listen to Minister of the Interior Dr. Gerhard Schroeder, who, among other things, is the West German Republic's attorney general.

"The flood of Sovzone literature," says Schroeder, "has increased. In 1960, some 17.5 million pieces of mail containing anti-constitutional contents and 2,387 big parcels and packages containing (such) pro-agenda were seized. . . .

According to the security pamphlets were mailed to the Federal Republic, while about three million were infiltrated to the federal territory by trucks of the distribution apparatus of the illegal KPD.

"This material is supplemented by the material and leaflets of the illegal KPD, which distributes about 7.6 million annually, and approximately (the editions of) 130 pro-Communist newspapers and information bulletins with a total distribution of approximately 15 million per year. Among them (serving them) are 23 information services and other publications. . . ."

IN OTHER WORDS, not only does the Soviet underground have its secret newspapers but also its regional news services. How much more gall can you have?

Minister of the Interior Schroeder says that the "preferred targets" of this Sovzone operation are "the trade unions and industrial plants system."

The Russians' aim is to provoke strikes, if possible, and unbalance Germany's fantastic prosperity.

Of course, many of the big plants have U.S. investments, especially in the metal and auto fields. Thus the super target becomes the metal industry—secondary target the mines.

If these can be shut and the economy disturbed and the government shaken, it would be worth many a division to the onrushing N. S. Khrushchev.

Let's not overlook this war within the war of nerves.

Contingency Planning

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Hypothetical Berlin Solution Vague

IN EUROPE Americans might as well resign themselves to the probable sequence of events in Berlin—it will be months, and not just days or weeks, before the crisis will come to a point of decision.

The tendency in the United States, as a rule, is to be in a hurry to want things settled in time perhaps for the next edition of the newspapers. The Russians don't operate that way. Time means nothing—negotiations run on for years.

Thus, the Korean Armistice Commission parleys are still carried on in occasional meetings. So is the conference with Red China about the release of American prisoners.

Laos has been under discussion at an international conference that already has taken three months and shows no signs of termination.

Disarmament talks at Geneva have been going on intermittently for more than a year.

Nuclear test-ban talks have been in progress for nearly three years.

The Berlin issue has been discussed off and on for many years. But recent developments now are likely to lead to another negotiation that will drag on for a long, long time.

In the meantime, what kind of counterprogram to Soviet moves can the Western Allies adopt?

They have, of course, had meetings of their foreign ministers. All sorts of hypothetical plans have been discussed, and there is an agreement in principle among the Western governments that, while certain points are negotiable, others are not.

The Western foreign ministers agreed at Paris the other day that a number of things might be done by way of reprisals, and this is called "contingency planning," but the whole discussion was predated on the "timetable."

Just when does each side do what?

Naturally, no publicity is given to this phase any more than—as Lord Home, British foreign secretary, put it—"you announce your hand in poker before you are finished playing your cards."

ANOTHER WORD has emerged in the diplomats' vocabulary and has been commented on in press dispatches from Washington. It's the word "escalation." This is supposed to mean that the West wishes to avoid making one move in the series that will provoke the other side to retaliatory operations—a game of tit-for-tat.

This seems sensible to avoid but, unfortunately, the other side doesn't put out little feelers to see what the West will do. There has to be a definite program, therefore, and a decisiveness all along on what are the basic principles, or the Communist strategists will win the game. For they do not have to consult allies—the Kremlin can be decisive at any moment.

Meanwhile, it is fitting that the Western Allies outline their possible countermeasures.

Public discussion in this respect has been helpful. It emphasizes that there are plenty of weapons in the arsenal of diplomacy besides war.

One part of the plan is to impose a total embargo on trade with the Soviet bloc if Moscow really starts a blockade of Berlin.

Since the Warsaw Pact countries now have formally taken their position in favor of a separate peace treaty with East Germany, the whole Communist bloc will have to take the consequences along with the Soviet Union if access to Berlin is denied the Allies.

Other economic sanctions, somewhat less drastic, are being examined, such as closing of Western ports to Communist shipping, and the denial of airport facilities in the West to commercial planes from the Soviet Union. Credits might be shut off, too.

WHEN MIGHT all this take place? That's where the word "timetable" comes in. That's why when the Russians closed the border to West Berlin the other day, there was some confusion in the press dispatches.

It was reported that Britain didn't want to impose economic sanctions. This isn't correct.

The British simply didn't feel that the time had come for the drastic steps to be taken. It was desired to let the situation around Berlin develop further and wait, if possible, until Nikita Khrushchev made some additional move.

What is significant is that, from London, Paris and Washington, there is frank admission in official quarters that economic force will be applied at the proper time if the Soviets violate Allied rights in West Berlin.

TECHNICALLY, the closing of the border in Berlin to the fleeing East Germans, while considered to be a violation of the Four Power Treaty, is not regarded at the moment to be an issue necessitating a showdown of economic or military strength.

So the people of the Western world might as well adjust themselves to a long, drawn out, exasperating "negotiation" which will take many months.

If a settlement does come next winter, it will be somewhat earlier than most persons familiar with the Soviet turn of mind feel is likely to happen.

A Ticklish Situation

By ROBERT C. TOTH

The House of Representatives, with a smile, has given the government permission to sell quickly two million pounds of feathers and down from the nation's stockpile of strategic materials.

There is a shortage of feathers in the world—goose, swan and duck types—and the General Services Administration wants to get rid of the surplus feathers, meet the demands of domestic users and make a buck out of the ticklish situation.

The nation does not need the feathers, among other reasons because Army scientists have found a way to treat common, American chicken feathers to substitute for waterproof feathers in sleeping bags. This frees the United States of dependence on foreign imports in time of war, it was noted.

Communist China had been the biggest feather merchant but "curtailment of this source of supply has greatly increased the demand from other sources," the House Armed Services Committee said in reporting out the bill.

Formosa is now the free world's largest exporter, the committee added, but it has contracted to supply five million pounds of feathers this year while it produces only three million pounds. Hence the shortage.

The Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, keepers of the nation's strategic stockpile, consulted with the Departments of State, Defense, Interior and Commerce, and decided to sell two million pounds of the feathers it has.

The law normally requires the GSA, the feather sellers, to wait six months after advertising the availability of the material and before the actual auction sale. The House bill, passed and sent to the Senate, waives that waiting period.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Readers: This is a warning. If you happen to see a dark-eyed, loveable little cocker spaniel on the street—don't kick him. It may be Eddie Fisher.

Ever since I printed the letter from the woman who claimed her dog sings along with Mitch I have received hundreds of letters from readers who insist that their dog has been singing for years, and they never thought of a thing about it. It makes me wonder about the boxer we had a few years ago.

He didn't sing a note—just sat around eating pounds of expensive meat.

Here are some samples of the most astonishing mail I have seen in ages:

From Boston: "So her dog sings along with Mitch, does he? Big deal. Our rat terrier gave up popular music when he was 6 months old. When the kids play rock 'n' roll Hercules barks and whines until they turn it off. Leonard Bernstein is his favorite."

From Calgary, Alberta: "Our dog has been singing since he was a puppy. Two years ago he began to harmonize with radio vocalists. Dean Martin is the one he does best with."

From Flint, Mich.: "Our toy poodle not only sings but she dances. My wife had a pair of ballet slippers made for "Baby" and whenever she hears music she wants to dance, too. "Baby" goes to her basket, gets the ballet slippers and brings them to us."

From Lexington, Ky.: "My Airedale refuses to go to bed at night until we have said our prayers. She folds her paws, puts her head down and stays in that position until after I have said 'Amen.'"

From Chicago: "I was surprised that you made so much hullabaloo about a dog who sings. You realize, I'm sure, that the dog doesn't actually sing. He merely registers his discomfort when certain sounds hurt his ears. If you want to see something unusual you should see our Schnauzer. He plays the piano. When I say, 'Play something, Fritz,' he hops up on the bench and pounds out a tune."

From New York: "So Mrs. Whatersname has a dog who sings? Well, I have a bird who barks. Our parrot imitates every sound to perfection. Lady Astor has learned to bark like our Chihuahua, Figaro. I honestly can't tell if the dog is barking, or the bird is acting up."

San Juan, P. R.: "I'll bet many people have dogs who sing (cry would be a better word)—but have you ever heard of a cat who chews tobacco? My uncle gave Kitty a plug just for a joke. She liked it. Now she chews regularly."

Pittsburgh: "I don't see anything so unusual about a dog who sings. We have a pet squirrel who plays the drums. We started out to teach him by letting him pound the drums with a nut in each paw. Now he doesn't even need the nuts. He just pounds away and his sense of rhythm is as good as some professionals."

P.S.: To Pittsburgh Reader: Does Jimmy Petrillo know about this?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Schools At Leetonia To Reopen on Sept. 5

Leetonia Exempted School District schools will reopen Sept. 5 with a part-day schedule, it was announced today.

Classes will start at 8:30 a.m. and be dismissed at 1 p.m. the first day. On the following day, full-day schedules will be held from 8:50 a.m. to 3:45 p.m.

Fredric Jeans of Toronto has been hired to teach junior and senior high school French. One teacher, a fifth grade elementary instructor, is still needed, but Victor Wood, superintendent of schools, said applicants are being interviewed and the position probably will be filled in a few days.

Wood announced teachers meetings will be held Aug. 31 and Sept. 1. Bus schedules and teachers assignments will be announced later.

Mrs. Russell Shive entertained Bridge Club associates at her home Friday afternoon. Prizes for high scores were awarded to Mrs. Jessie Gaughan, Mrs. Culver Stewart and Mrs. Raymond Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Camp and Mr. and Mrs. Milan Camp of Guilford were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Holt.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grace of Pittsburgh, Pa., were recent visitors of his mother, Mrs. Ella Grace.

Leetonia-Washingtonville Athletic Booster's Club has completed plans for the annual Leetonia High School Varsity football kickoff picnic at Townsend's Lake.

Club President Dick Gregory has announced that the swimming party for the varsity squad will commence immediately following the Youngstown Woodrow Wilson scrimmage scheduled for the morning of Aug. 30.

A wiener roast will be held at 5 p.m. and all members of the organization are urged to attend. Ike Farrah, head football coach, will comment on the scrimmage and answer questions.

A meeting of the club will be held Sept. 6 at Orchard Hill School at which time footage of the United Local-Canfield scrimmage will be viewed. The club also plans a membership drive.

Mrs. Frank Boyle of Youngstown, Mrs. Vida Wenderoth of Columbiana and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Arnold spent last Monday in Cleveland.

ELEVEN CADETS AND FOUR SENIOR members of the Salem Civil Air Patrol left Sunday morning for the 1961 summer encampment at Wright Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton to study the aviation training program. The group will return next Monday.

this strategy would be tried again this year. Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating, New York Republicans, said they would attempt to suspend the rules and offer civil rights measures as riders to the appropriation bill.

Their bills would provide federal financial aid for schools that desegregate, authorize the attorney general to bring civil rights suits in behalf of private individuals, outlaw the poll tax, and extend the civil rights commission indefinitely.

Without leadership support, however, it appeared unlikely that the required two-thirds majority could be obtained to suspend the rules to clear the way for action on these highly controversial proposals.

Mansfield said his intention was to support a rules suspension only for the bill to extend the Civil Rights Commission for two years.

port by calling it "merely a rumor."

Soviets manning the Helmstedt border checkpoint Sunday showed no inclination to hamper the Berlin-bound convoy of 1,500 men of the 8th Infantry Division. It was the biggest mass movement of American troops to West Berlin since the war.

The Soviets took an identity check and head-count—as they have a right to do under Big Four agreements on Berlin—but they seemed as anxious as the Americans to see that the operation went off without a hitch.

Secretary Rusk said in Washington any Communist interference with the physical access to Berlin would "be a very serious matter indeed."

lision on the Depot Rd., about a mile north of Rt. 172 near Guilford Lake, at 2:05 p.m.

Injured were:

Norman Sandoe, 37, of Beaver Falls, contusions of the right arm. Mrs. Mary Sandoe, 38, neck injury.

Wayne Sandoe, 14, contusions of the right arm.

Laura Snair, 8, of RD 2, Darlington, a passenger in the car with the Sandoes, abrasions of the left cheek.

All were brought to the Central Clinic.

The patrol said the Sandoes, headed south on the Depot Rd., had stopped in the travel lane to ask directions when a truck driven by Joseph Sampson, 19, of RD 1, Hanover, approaching from the rear, failed to get stopped and skidded into their car.

Sampson was cited for failure to stop in an assured clear distance and Norman Sandoe for parking on the roadway.

Sampson escaped injury, as did another passenger in the Pennsylvania car, Ronald Sandoe, 12. The car was damaged extensively while Sampson's 1958 model truck received moderate damage.

Howard Cusick, 17, of RD 2, Lisbon, escaped injury when his car rolled over on Twp. Rd. 777, a mile south of Lisbon, at 7:05 a.m. The patrol said Cusick failed to negotiate a curve, struck an embankment on the left side of the road, then went back across to the right side of the road where it struck another embankment and overturned onto the highway.

Ronald Vester, 29, of Cleveland was cited for failure to stop in an assured clear distance after his car skidded into the rear of a car operated by William Chase, 27, of Negley, at 3 p.m. on Rt. 30, a mile east of Rt. 170.

The patrol said Chase had slowed down for two cars which had stopped in front of him and Vester struck his auto from behind.

Cars driven by Clifford Burrows, 65, of Minerva, and Thomas L. Fornash, 22, also of Minerva, collided at a railroad crossing on Twp. Rd. 703, just north of Rt. 30, at 4:15 p.m. The patrol reported that the accident occurred when Burrows went left of center on a slight curve. He was arrested for driving left of center.

Donald C. Conser, 19, of RD 2, Salem, was cited for failing to yield the right of way after his car collided with a station wagon operated by Albert E. Kitteridge, 51, of East Liverpool, on the North Georgetown Rd., four miles south of Salem at 6:10 p.m.

According to the patrol, Conser turned into the path of Kitteridge. Mathias Kufleitner, 22, of RD 2, Salem, was arrested for failure to stop in an assured clear distance following a two-car crash on Alt. Rt. 14, two-tenths of a mile east of Salem at 7:35 p.m.

The patrol said Francis Marepich, 17, of RD 5, Salem, stopped to make a left turn when his auto was struck from behind by Kufleitner's vehicle.

BOY BITTEN BY DOG

Eddie Finn, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Finn of 706 W.

Wilson St., was treated by a physician after being bitten on the back by a dog at 7:10 p.m. Sunday at 793 W. Pershing St.

The bite broke the skin. The dog's owner, William McCrea, was notified by police to keep the animal tied and under surveillance for three weeks.

When Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba ordered a blockade of the base to pressure the French into negotiating a withdrawal schedule, French forces seized control of the adjoining city of Bizerte and occupied a considerable perimeter around it.

INJURED IN PLANT FALL

Orville Blythe, 49, of RD 1, Salem, an employee of the E. W. Bliss Co., is in fairly good condition at the Central Clinic with injuries to his right shoulder received when he fell 15 feet from a scaffold while at work Saturday noon. His fall was broken when he hit another employee, Robert Bell of RD 1, Salem, who was treated at the hospital and released.

Church Conference Speakers

Rev. Edison Habegger and Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Robinson

Rev. Edison Habegger of Van Nuys, Calif., is guest speaker for the 149th session of Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends, which opens Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. in Damascus and continues daily through Sunday evening.

Rev. Habegger, who has traveled abroad, is currently pastor of a missionary church in Van Nuys. He is well-known in this district through evangelistic services held in Salem and Alliance.

MRS. DONALD HOGUE of E. 3rd St. entertained at a pre-nuptial courtesy Thursday evening in honor of Miss Lois Althouse. Fourteen office associates at City Hospital attended the miscellaneous shower held at the home of the hostess' mother, Mrs. John Tullis of 384 W. 9th St.

Mrs. F. H. Waiwaiole, Mrs. Joseph Ruse, Miss Carol Davis and Miss Althouse shared game honors.

Pink and white appointments were used and a parasol theme was carried out when the hostess, assisted by her mother and sister-in-law, Mrs. David Hogue, served lunch.

Miss Althouse will become the bride of William McCormick Sept. 1 in the First Friends Church. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Althouse of RD 2, Salem. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McCormick of 434 W. 3rd St.

PRIZES AT "500" were awarded to Mrs. Walter Woods and Mrs. Joseph Winkler when the Cardmates Club met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Paul Harrington Jr. of 551 E. 7th St.

Mrs. Gary Moffett was a guest of the club. Mrs. Robert Hill assisted the hostess with the lunch.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Hill of 608 Jefferson St. Sept. 21.

MISS WANDA HAYES, bride-elect of Raymond Ross, was surprised with a kitchen shower Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Barbara Bricker of 11th St., with Miss Dianne Tomkinson assisting.

Members and leaders of her former Girl Scout troop were among the 16 guests present. Games were played, with prizes going to Elaine Nyktas, Kathy Cosma, Sandy Hiltbrand and Sally Shears. The buffet table was centered with yellow candles circled with garden flowers.

The wedding will take place Oct. 21, at 2:30 p.m. in the First Methodist Church. Miss Hayes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Hayes of South Madison Ave., and Mr. Ross is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Ross of Franklin Ave.

MR. AND MRS. Joseph Vogelhuber of RD 2, Salem were hosts at the 22nd annual reunion of the Charles E. Woolf family Sunday. The basket lunch was served to 61 persons.

Officers elected for next year are: President, Florian Woolf of North Georgetown; vice president, Keith Hahn of Homeworth; and secretary-treasurer, Maxine Hahn of Homeworth.

William Woolf of Salem was the oldest present, and Denise Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Woods of Hanoverton, was the youngest.

Next year's reunion will be held the second Sunday in August at the North Georgetown Community Center.

THE FOURTH DEGREE of the Knights of Columbus met for a steak fry at the home of Ralph Dell of 1236 N. Lincoln Ave. Thursday evening with 35 members and wives present.

A short business meeting was conducted, with Dell, faithful navigator, presiding at the meeting. The yearly schedule was set-up for the coming year.

The next meeting will be Sept. 9 when officer installation will be held at the club following dinner at the Timberlans for members, wives and out-of-town guests.

Miss Jacqueline Davis Wed to David N. Simon

The Central Christian Church in Youngstown was the setting for the Saturday afternoon wedding of Jacqueline Greenamyer Davis and David Noel Simon.

Altar vases of white gladioli and roses and four candelabra enhanced the altar for the double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Albert Pennybacker.

The bride is the daughter of Atty. and Mrs. E. C. Greenamyer of Leetonia, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Simon of Youngstown.

Mrs. Donald Brothers was organist for the service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a champagne colored silk and lace sheath, with matching elbow-length satin gloves, and a whimsy hat. She carried two white orchids.

Miss Susan Greenamyer of Leetonia was maid of honor for her sister. She appeared in a turquoise dress fashioned with a domed skirt, and a turquoise Dior bow. Yellow and white roses formed her colonial bouquet.

Ron Kostello of Youngstown was the best man. Howard Simon and Ralph Simon of Youngstown, brothers of the bridegroom, seated the guests.

Cymbidium orchid corsages complemented the ensembles worn by the mothers of the couple. Mrs. Greenamyer chose a beige silk dress with beige accessories and Mrs. Simon wore a blue embroidered sheath with blue accessories.

Three hundred guests from Cleveland, Philadelphia, Niles and Ellwood City, Fla. attended the reception on the church lawn. The four-tiered bridal cake was decorated with yellow and white roses forming a cascade down the cake and along the table. The hostesses were Mrs. James L. Jackson Jr. of Niles, sister of the bride, Mrs. Donald Avery of Youngstown and Mrs. Stephen Hering of Cleveland, sisters of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Simon is a graduate of Penn Hall Preparatory School in Chambersburg, Pa., and received a bachelor of arts degree from Denison University. She is employed as a teacher of language arts in the Boardman Junior High School. Her husband received a bachelor of science degree from Kent State University and is an architect.

Miss Carolyn Weingart Bride of Jack Neapolitan

Miss Carolyn Mae Weingart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Weingart of RD 4, Salem, became the bride of Jack Neapolitan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew R. Neapolitan of Youngstown, Saturday afternoon.

Woodwardia ferns and palms and spiral candelabra graced the altar of the Boardman Methodist Church for the double ring ceremony conducted by Rev. Alfred H. Hubler. Doreen Beck of Greenford was vocalist.

Forrest Peppel of Beloit gave his niece in marriage. Imported Chantilly lace fashioned her gown which was styled with a Sabrina neckline, trimmed with iridescent sequins, and bracelet-length sleeves. The bouffant skirt featured a cathedral train of pleated nylon tulle ruffles. A queen's crown of rhinestones held her imported silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids.

Organza gowns in pastel hues were worn by the bride's attendants. They wore matching picture hats trimmed in black velvet, and carried matching hybrid orchids cascading from wicker baskets. They wore Cameo pin chokers, gifts from the bride.

Miss Sally Morrison of Salem was the maid of honor and appeared in pink. The bridesmaids were Janet Headland of Salem, who was gown in blue, Nellie Lou Weingart of Canfield, cousin of the bride, was in orchid and Janet Sullivan of Salem was attired in yellow.

Mary Beth Neapolitan of Youngstown, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl. She wore a mint green organza gown and carried cymbidium orchids.

Best man for the bridegroom was Ronald Slagle of Youngstown. The ushers were Richard Toriello and Robert Roither of Youngstown and Ray Weingart of Canfield, cousin of the bride.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. Forrest Peppel, was attired in a navy ensemble, complemented with a white orchid corsage.

Five hundred guests attended the reception at the bridegroom's residence. The refreshment table featured a five-tiered wedding cake and compotes of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and carnations. Out of town guests were present from Vero Beach, Fla., Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Santee, Calif.

A graduate of Greenford High School, the bride is employed by Borden's Dairy in Boardman. Her husband is a Boardman High School Graduate, and is employed by the Meine - Stru ers Jiflower Shop in Struthers.

Following a Florida honeymoon, the newlyweds will reside at the bridegroom's home.

Mrs. Roger G. Cherryholmes

Miss Marcia Fitzpatrick Married to Massillon Man

The marriage of Miss Marcia Joy Fitzpatrick and Roger Gary Cherryholmes was solemnized Sunday afternoon by Rev. Bruce Milligan in the First United Presbyterian Church.

Miss Fitzpatrick is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Robert Fitzpatrick of Salem, and Mr. Cherryholmes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd G. Cherryholmes of Massillon.

The chancel was enhanced with bouquets of gladioli, mums and carnations and two candelabra. Nuptial melodies were played by Marshall Bailey, organist.

White satin fashioned the bride's floor-length gown featuring a chapel train. An insertion of Alencon lace, embellished with seed pearls and sequins, formed the bateau neckline. The lace motif was repeated at the hipline of the princess style skirt. An Alencon lace hat, topped with a satin bow, held her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion. She carried her mother's white Eastern Star Bible, marked with a white orchid and stephanotis. The bride's parents gave her in marriage.

Miss Jean Louise Yarian of Columbus, formerly of Salem, was the bride's only attendant. She was gown in seafoam crystal satin, designed with a portrait neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt was accented with a bow at the waist. She wore a matching Dior bow and carried a basket of yellow Shasta daisies.

David Alfred Parker of New York was best man, and David Stephenson of Columbus was the usher.

A poudre blue silk organza over taffeta dress with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage were worn by Mrs. Fitzpatrick. Mrs. Cherryholmes chose a dusty rose net over taffeta dress with white accessories and a gardenia corsage.

The newlyweds were greeted at a reception at Timberlans. Mrs. David Bessmer of Louisville registered the 200 guests from Columbus, Cincinnati, Wilmington, Canton, Louisville, Massillon, Detroit, Cleveland, Alliance, Leetonia, Marion, Salem and Kalamazoo, Mich.

The bride's table was laid with a white satin cloth and net overskirt, and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, encircled with ivy. Yellow daisies decorated the white candles in the silver candelabra. Miss Marsha Hart of Salem and Miss Connie Cummins of Columbus served.

A 1957 graduate of Salem High School, Mrs. Cherryholmes received a bachelor of science in education degree from Ohio State University College of Education in June, where she was vice president of Gamma Phi Beta Sorority. She will teach the third grade at Lepox Elementary School in Olmsted Falls.

Mr. Cherryholmes will receive a bachelor of science in business administration from OWU Friday. A 1957 graduate of Washington High School in Massillon, he was president of Triangle Fraternity at OSU. He will be employed by the Insurance Company of North America in Lakewood.

The couple will reside at 21585 Center Ridge Road, Apt. 304 in Rocky River, following a wedding trip to Cedar Point. The bride's going away outfit was a black and white sheath with black patent accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Cherryholmes entertained at the rehearsal party Saturday evening.

North Georgetown

Rev. and Mrs. Richard Allison and family of Waynesboro, Pa., former residents, have visited Mr. and Mrs. George Hardy and other members of the Brethren Church recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barnett have returned from the Carolinas where they vacationed recently. Thirty-six friends attended the 24th anniversary dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Al Hoopes.

Mrs. Merle Hardy and son were in Youngstown recently on business.

Cleveland Drops Doubleheader to New York 6-0, 5-2

Maris, Mantle Hit Homers Off Perry

Francona Connects for Tribe In 2nd Tilt; Tigers At Stadium Tuesday

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Indians' Manager Jimmie Dykes is convinced there is little doubt that the New York Yankees will win the American League pennant. "Everything's in their favor to win it," he said Sunday after the Yankees swept a doubleheader from the Indians, 6-0 and 5-2. "The club has real balance and as far as we're concerned their pitching looks good."

Ralph Terry and Roland Sheldon went the distance for the Yankees—Terry pitching a four-hitter in the opener and Sheldon giving up eight scattered hits in the nightcap, enabling the Yanks to win the four-game series, 3-1, in their last appearance here this season.

Yankee slugger Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle each hit a home run in the first game in their assault on Babe Ruth's record. Jim Perry (9-11) was the victim of both blasts.

Maris' homer in the third inning was his 49th and leaves him 10 games ahead of Ruth's pace when he set the all time record of 60 in 1927. Mantle hit his 46th in the first inning. He is eight games ahead of Babe's pace.

In the second game an unidentified man leaped out of the right field stands and went toward Indian center fielder Jim Piersall, wanting to shake hands. When Piersall refused, the man threatened to hit him and the center fielder ran him off the field, kicking at him during the chase. Police escorted the man from the stadium.

Earlier in the game two unidentified young men had leaped onto the field from the left field stands and wanted to shake hands with Piersall, but he refused and they jumped over the fence. They were caught by police following a chase around the Indians' bullpen.

Mantle's homer followed Bobby Richardson's single and a walk to Maris. A single by Billy Gardner preceded Maris' blast.

Power Spoils Bid for No-Hitter Terry retired the first 15 batters in winning his 10th game in 11 decisions. His bid for a no-hitter was spoiled by Vic Power's lead-off single in the sixth.

Mantle drove in two more runs—walking against starter and loser Gary Bell (8-13) with the bases loaded and sending a runner home with a single against reliever Bob Allen.

Maris went hitless in the nightcap, striking out twice against Bell, hit by a Bell pitch and walking against Allen.

Bill Skowron belted his 21st homer against Bell for two runs in the second inning. Tito Francona's 14th homer in the sixth produced the Indians' first run.

The Tribe, idle today, will open a three-game series Tuesday night against the Detroit Tigers.

Herron's Pitcher Allows Only Three Hits

Glenn Mercer Hurls Double Shutout Over Shaffer Ford

Herron Transfer blanked Shaffer Ford, 8-0 and 6-0 in a Class AA doubleheader played at Kelley Park Sunday behind the pitching of Glenn Mercer who limited the losers to only a total of three hits in the twin-bill.

In the first game Rich Youngpeter slammed a two-run homer for Herron's to send the winners into a 2-0 first inning lead.

Shaffer hurler Satch Altomare held the Herron nine in check for the next three frames but a five-run fifth inning on six hits turned the tilt into a rout.

Jim Barnes was the big man in the Herron attack in the first tilt as he had a perfect three-for-three at the plate. Weingart collected two of the 12 hits lined out by the winners.

Dave Hiner and Jack Brudery socked the losers' two safeties.

In the second encounter Mercer and Shaffer pitcher Jerry Hendricks locked up in a tight duel for the first four frames. Both allowed only one hit each in the fourth inning.

Doubles by Ed Bozich and Mercer along with singles by Tucker and Weingart produced three runs in the fifth to move the Herron's nine into the lead 3-0. The winners added three more tallies in the seventh on a triple by Weingart, a double by Youngpeter and a single by Barnes.

Pacing the Herron attack were Bozich and Weingart with two hits apiece.

Jack Brudery collected the only safety for Shaffer's in the first inning.

Giants Hand Dodgers Seventh Straight Defeat 11-8

Phillies Snap Losing Streak At 23, Top Braves; Bucs Blanked

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer The Philadelphia Phillies snapped their modern record losing streak at 23 when they defeated the Milwaukee Braves 7-4 after losing the opener 5-2 Sunday.

Cincinnati and Los Angeles, one-two in the National League, were beaten, enabling the Reds to maintain their three-game lead. The Reds lost to St. Louis 7-4 and the Dodgers dropped an 11-8 decision to San Francisco. Chicago shut out Pittsburgh 1-0 in 11 innings.

Everything pointed to the Phillies matching the 24 successive losses inflicted upon the 1899 Cleveland Pipers. The futile Phils already had erased the modern National and American league

Brewer Cops Indian Spring Open By One

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)—How does it feel for a golf pro to hit the winner's jackpot after chasing around the tournament trail five years without a victory? "I just can't believe it," says Gay Brewer Jr., the winner of the $35,000 Indian Spring Open.

But the conqueror, in the form of a $5,300 winner's check, was written out Sunday shortly after the 29-year-old veteran wound up with a 3-under-par 67 final round and a four-round total of 277 over the rugged Indian Spring Country Club course.

Billy Maxwell of Dallas barely missed a 40-foot putt for a tying birdie on the final hole moments after Brewer finished. Maxwell's 69-278 enabled him to pick up $3,450 for second place.

Bill Casper of Apple Valley, Calif., the pace-setter for three rounds, failed to birdie a hole on the last day and wound up with 73, tying him with Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass., for third with 279. Harney's final round score was 71.

The top 10 finishers:

'M' Boys Close In On Ruth's Record

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, both challenging Babe Ruth's major league home run record of 60 set in 1927, each hit for the distance in the first game of a doubleheader against the Indians Sunday.

Maris' was his 49th and put him 10 games ahead of Ruth's pace. Mantle now has 46 and is 8 games ahead of Ruth.

The Yankees swept the doubleheader, 6-0 and 5-2. Both home runs came off Cleveland right-hander Jim Perry.

Detroit Takes Pair On Cash's Slugging

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

The home run heroics of Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle and the almost monotonous winning ways of the New York Yankees have overshadowed the courageous effort of the Detroit Tigers and the spectacular hitting of their new star first baseman, Norm Cash.

Maris clouted his 49th home run Sunday and Mantle walloped No. 46 as the M and M boys kept 10 and 8 games, respectively, ahead of Babe Ruth's record 60-homer pace of 1927. The Yankees went on to sweep a doubleheader from Cleveland 6-0 and 5-2 to protect their three-game bulge over Detroit.

Undismayed, the Tigers took a doubleheader from Boston 6-1 and 7-6. They were the Tigers' sixth and seventh victories in the last 10 games.

Cash Retired Only Once

Red Sox pitchers were able to retire Cash only once as he rapped three hits in each game, drove in four runs, slammed his 31st home run and boosted his league-leading average to .364. Chicago's White Sox thrashed Kansas City 5-3 and 7-0 to move into a fourth place tie with Cleveland. Third-place Baltimore, 11 games off the pace, downed Washington 9-3 in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game was postponed until today because of rain. Minnesota outsluged Los Angeles 9-7.

Lary Gains 18th Win

Frank Lary, second in victories only to New York's Whitey Ford, won his 18th with a seven-hitter in Detroit's first game triumph. Relief pitcher Terry Fox was the second game winner, getting his fourth triumph when pinch hitter Bubba Morton singled home the tying and winning runs in the eighth.

Juan Pizarro hurled a three-hit shutout over the Athletics for his ninth White Sox victory. Al Smith led the 14-hit attack against loser Art Ditmar and company with a double and triple. Two errors by third baseman Ossie Virgil in the sixth inning of the opener opened the gates for three Chicago runs. Jerry Adair clouted two doubles and Whitey Herzog slammed a two-run triple to help Chuck Estrada chalk up his 10th victory and Baltimore its 10th triumph in 13 starts against Washington. Estrada struck out 12.

Four Minnesota home runs, two by Lennie Green, helped the Twins snap a seventh-place tie with Los Angeles. Al Schroll, in relief, picked up his first victory. Earl Averill had two homers for the Angels.

The Delaware Handicap is now a $100,000-plus race. When Rosena won the first running in 1937 she netted Foxcatcher Farms only $8,125.

49ers Fall 27-24

Plum-Renfro Pass Clicks for Browns

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns had the ball on the San Francisco 49ers' 27-yard line with 13 seconds left. Then flanker Ray Renfro got behind Dave Baker, 49er safety man, and hauled in a Milt Plum pass for Cleveland's 27-24 exhibition game victory Sunday.

Lou Groza's debut after laying out a season was a good omen. Groza kicked 19 and 31-yard field goals and three extra points.

Salem Splits Penn-Ohio Doubleheader

The Salem Merchants of the Penn-Ohio Softball League split a two-inning game with the Akron Butler Oil aggregation Sunday at Kelley Park with the Merchants taking the first tilt, 3-1 but dropping the second in 11 innings, 5-4.

In the first battle Salem tied the score at 1-1 in the fifth frame after Akron moved to a 1-0 lead in the third on a double and a single. Hits by Jackson and Schuster along with a walk and a sacrifice by Wyss produced Salem's tally.

Salem captured the win in the sixth with a two-run rally sparked by hits off the bats of Rich Youngpeter, Dick Andric and Hahn.

Hahn paced the Merchants' seven-hit attack with two safeties.

In the second encounter Salem jumped to a 3-0 margin in the first inning on hits by Wyss, Youngpeter and Andric. Akron tied the count at 3-3 in the fourth frame and from then on it was a pitcher's duel between Hahn of Salem and Eckman of Akron.

The winners tallied two runs on no hits in the top of the 11th inning to take the win. Salem countered with one run in the last of the 11th on a hit by Benny Roelen.

Wyss, Youngpeter, Roelen and Andric all rapped two safeties for the Merchants.

The Merchants will play in the Niles Softball Tournament at 9 p.m. Tuesday. The locals are 2-10 in league play.

Winona Edged 9-8 By All-Star Nine

The United Little League All-Stars scored a narrow 9-8 victory over Winona, the undefeated loop champions, Friday at Kensington.

The All-Stars jumped to a 4-0 lead in the first inning on singles by Gruszewski and Chambers along with doubles by Bill Syx and Norton.

Winona came back in the third frame to grab a 6-4 margin on a double by Adams and singles by Coffee and Holmes. Three walks aided the Winona rally.

The losers added another tally in the fourth to take a 7-4 lead. The All-Stars tallied two in the fifth to trail, 7-6. The champs racked up their final run in the sixth on singles by Hartman and Grindle.

The All-Stars chalked up their winning runs in the last of the sixth as a single by D. Merriman and two steals by Merriman sparked the three-run rally.

Marty Bricefield was the losing pitcher while Mike Pierson captured the win.

Merriman, Gruszewski and Syx paced the All-Stars with two hits apiece.

Winona captured the United Little League title by posting a 20-0 league record.

Vacationing Cat

By HAL BOYLE

SPARTA, N. J. (AP) — What does a city cat do when she goes to the country?

Well, for one thing, she gives you the time of your life — just watching her have the time of her life.

For three years Lady Dottie has been a real cool big city cat, as aloof and sophisticated as the pampered ladies who dwell on Park Avenue. She has led almost as sheltered an existence as they.

For three years she has looked out at life from the windows of our eighth-floor Manhattan apartment, gravely watching the rains pelt against the panes, the snow flakes swirl outside like tiny white ghosts, the soaring gulls crying faintly afar, the rusty freighters of the world plow up and down the East River.

For three years Lady Dottie has been more or less an apartment house prisoner, but a cheerful one.

Then we took her for a week's vacation to a 150-year-old farmhouse here in the friendly New Jersey countryside, and it was as if she had been born a second time in another universe.

Everything was strange and new to Lady Dottie. At first she was lonesome and afraid in a world she never made.

Everything startled her. She stepped out on the lawn under the wide-armed century-old maple trees as gingerly as if she were walking on heated glass. Each time a car roared by on the highway, screened by a green fence of sweet cedars, she flattened and her ears twitched.

A horse bearing a little girl in a big-brimmed cowboy hat came galloping down a side road. Lady Dottie had never seen a horse before in her life. She flattened, her ears went down and she began to back crawl like a crab. An apple plopped to the ground from a tree behind her. She leaped three feet into the air, then streaked for home like Willie Mays on a base steal.

Then she became aware of the grass. Cats love an occasional taste of green things. That first day Lady Dottie nibbled so much grass—she was too nervous to eat her food—she became sick at the stomach twice.

But each day she has become more venturesome and self-confident. Her veneer of sophistication has vanished. She spends the long summer hours chasing chipmunks and prowling the wood-piles and barns looking for field mice. She has developed an insatiable appetite for milk.

"She must be catching and eating those mice," said my wife.

"How do you know?" I asked.

"Cats always drink more milk when they make a menu of a mouse," replied Frances, who comes from a small town in Missouri. "Everybody knows that."

Well, I didn't know it, and I'm still not sure it's so. Wives are always making a big sweeping statement like that, and then try to convince their husbands it's gospel truth.

Three bluejays in a sideyard cedar tree are Lady Dottie's chief enemies. Every time they see her black and white body slipping sinuously near, they alert every other wild thing in the area by screaming at her.

Lady Dottie doesn't like being given "the bird" by a trio of hick jays. She would swarm right up the tree after them except for one thing. We clipped her claws in advance, so she wouldn't harm any feathered thing.

But she has proved her valor in a better way. Twice dogs have wandered into the yard. Lady Dottie's back never arched in panic. Her yellow eyes widened and glared like two angry egg yolks, and she crouched ready to attack. Each time it was the dog who turned and left.

No night wanderer, Lady Dottie comes indoors willingly at bedtime. Only buns sleep outdoors, she sleeps at the feet of my wife, purring so loudly it sounds like distant thunder.

This happy week of enchanted freedom will soon be over for Lady Dottie. Will she ever be as content again in a big-city apartment?

When she gazes out the windows with her great inscrutable eyes, what will she really see — the cozy comfort there, or the life of liberty she has known in the country here?
